

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A device for automatic identification and counting of tagged articles massed together in a prescribed size bundles during linen cleaning and sorting processes. A three dimensional scanning of the bundles by multiple passes of a directional RF antenna oriented in different axial planes during each scan within 5 a prescribed vertical path around the bundle.